

Claims

1. We claim the invention “Scented Hair-Sticks” to be the unique invention of David A. Fradkin and Katherine J. Maples-Andrade.
2. Though there are other hair sticks and hair accessories currently on the market, the “Scented Hair-Sticks” is the first hair accessory that allows a scent or perfume to be emitted from the device, specifically from its design.
3. We claim that since the “Scented Hair-Stick” is the first invention of its kind, others will take the idea to create “spin off” products.
4. As a result, all hair accessories that emit a scent or perfume should fall under the protection of this application.